PRESS RELEASE

Parole Board Denies Parole for Murderer
Linza Earl Russell
After District Attorney Opposes Release

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CA, May 11, 2017 – In September 1989, a jury convicted Linza Earl Russell of first degree murder in the stabbing death of his girlfriend, Kelli Daniels, who was 21. Russell has been in prison for that crime ever since and has been considered for parole several times. On Wednesday, May 10, at Vacaville, his latest bid for parole was denied when the Board of Parole Hearings found him unsuitable for a five year period.

The crime occurred in the City of San Luis Obispo the day before Thanksgiving 1988. Russell and Daniels were co-workers and he was married to another woman. Russell had been convicted of domestic violence in 1987 with Ms. Daniels as the victim and had spent some time in jail. At the time of her death, she had a restraining order against Russell. He had also previously been convicted of assaulting a girlfriend in Chicago with a knife, and trying to set her apartment on fire.

Deputy District Attorney Linda Dunn appeared at the prison for the hearing and argued against parole. During the hearing, Russell expressed little remorse and insisted the deceased victim was the real aggressor. He is now 57 years old and will be eligible for his next parole hearing in 2022.

Point of contact for media inquiries is Assistant District Attorney Lee Cunningham (805) 781-5874.
