Clearly, the decommissioning and dismantling of Diablo Canyon will create significant and disturbing environmental impacts - in the ocean, on the land, and in the air - but so does continued operation - with the added risk of a catastrophic radiological release.

I don't see any benefit in delaying the inevitable deconstruction, and I support decommissioning ASAP - certainly by 2024 and 2025 as scheduled.

I advocate for

- the greatest care in the storage and transport of radiological materials
- mitigation techniques when demolishing the the ocean structures, and
- a more stringent remediation threshold of 10mrem/y rather than the 25 that has been suggested

I would also like to point out a minor error in appendix G1-1: There is a reference made to Units 2 and 3, which should read Units 1 and 2.
